JOE CRAIL IN FINAL WEEK OF CAMPAIGN

Congressman Remembered for His Record in Washington

Congressman Joe Crail of the Tenth district is facing the final week of his campaign for re-election with excellent prospects of surpassing the fine vote of approval given him by his constituents two years ago, when he was overwhelmingly re-elected.

Within a week Congressman Crail has received the unanimous endorsement of the Los Angeles County Republican Central committee, the Republican Central committee for the Tenth district and the great Iowa Society, which he formerly was president. He has also received the endorsement of the United Veterans of the Republic and the All-Veterans League.

Aid to Boulder Dam

The important aid given by him to the Boulder Dam legislation in Congress is indicated by the following telegram to Congressman Crail from the Metropolitan Water District following the initial appropriation of $10,000,000 to actually start work on the project: "The Metropolitan Water District of California desires to acknowledge its appreciation of your able and constructive efforts which contributed to the passing of the second deficiency bill containing the initial appropriation for the Boulder Canyon Project."

Record in Congress

During his second term in Congress, Crail made a record for that body in having 38 of his bills successfully passed and signed by President Hoover. Few of the Congressmen introduced that many bills, and the average for each Congressman passed was only three bills. Bills enacted into law included six appropriations money for new school buildings in the Tenth district, as well as the immense appropriations for the new breakwater and dredging at Los Angeles harbor.

Additional appropriations for forest conservation, flood and fire control were made by Congress as a result of Congressman Crail's efforts. His headquarters revealed today, in that last summer he personally invited the committee from Congress investigating these conditions in the United States to visit California and spent two days with them going over the forest and flood control areas in the South.

Ramage Reviews Work in Behalf of Lower Taxes

Robert C. Ramage, candidate for supervisor of the fourth district, points with considerable pride to his record as Mayor and Councilman of the city of Hawthorne. In a statement issued today, Mr. Ramage declared that he accomplished the following during his administration: "Reduced the taxes at the city of Hawthorne from $1.82 to $1.00; reduced the water rate from $1.25 for 100 feet to 75 cents for 100 feet; helped to gradually eliminate the water tax and says that the $200,000 water bonds and interest is being paid for out of water sold."

"Four years ago when I took office, the city was thousands of dollars in debt. When I left at the end of my term in April of this year, there was nearly $50,000 on hand in the general and water fund, $26,000 of which was at interest at four per cent and every major obligation paid."

"I am absolutely opposed to any unnecessary improvements in these difficult economic conditions," Mr. Ramage said. "I will protect the taxpayer in every way and see that we get all that is coming to us."

Hospital Notes

One girl and three boys arrived at the Jareds Sanitarium, Torrance, at hospital during the past week. All of the new arrivals are reported doing very nicely, thank you.

Mr. and Mrs. Perez Cobb, 1301 Owensby avenue, Hermosa, claimed the girl, who arrived on August 17.

The boys were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hale, 220th street, Torrance, Tuesday night; Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Roberts, 157th street, Gardena, August 17; and Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Morrison, 292 South Catalina street, Redondo, on Tuesday night.

Surgeons at the institution removed the tonsils of Miss Loraine Scott, 261st street, Lomita, and Mrs. J. R. Wilkes, of Colton, at Court Torrance, Wednesday morning.

Little Dolores Hanke, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hanke, 802 Sartori avenue, was treated at the hospital for a slight cut on her knee, Tuesday, after noon. The child was reported hit by an automobile.

All of the other patients in the hospital are said to be convalescing rapidly from their various treatments.

IN THE AMUSEMENT WORLD

LYON STATES PLATFORM OF HIS CAMPAIGN

The platform adopted by Senator Charles W. Lyon at the outset of his campaign for re-election is said by critics in state and economic affairs to be one of the most progressive and constructive ever offered by a candidate. It is the result of Senator Lyon's sixteen years of unbroken service in the California Legislature.

- Following is Senator Lyon's platform:
1. Economy and reduction of taxes.
2. Reorganization of the state penal system to permit segregation of youths and first-offenders from the hardened criminals. Education and rehabilitation of criminals by teaching them useful trades and requiring them to work while incarcerated.
3. Increasing the pro-rata percentage of gas tax money for road construction in Los Angeles County.
4. Rewriting or amending the special street improvement acts to protect property owners against overlapping and excessive special assessments and providing for contribution from the general funds of the city or county for a portion of the cost of major traffic projects.
5. Extension of the building program of the University of California at Los Angeles.
6. Revision of the inequitable and antiquated tax system of California.
7. Correction in revisiting of the State Constitution of the present unjust system of reapportionment.

Ben Hill Gets Endorsements By Big Groups

Ben Hill, only candidate from San Pedro for Assembly has been endorsed by some of the most influential organizations in Los Angeles county. Among those who have endorsed Mr. Hill are the Republican Central Committee, the Municipal League, the German-American Society, United Veterans of the Republic, the All Veterans League, the Central Labor Council of Los Angeles, and more than 3000 other endorsements from San Pedro, Wilmington and Torrance residents.

The Municipal League of Los Angeles, one of the strongest organizations of its kind in Los Angeles, in endorsing Mr. Hill, said in part: "It indicates a very keen interest in the development of Los Angeles Harbor, and an ability to think out public questions for himself."

Ben Hill was born April 22, 1892, and raised on a farm in Kentucky, was educated in public schools of Kentucky. He came to Los Angeles in 1910, was assistant treasurer 1916 to 1917 of Imperial Irrigation District in Imperial County, California, $16,000,000 bonded Irrigation District.

Gov. Young Unable To Address Clubs

Late today it was learned that Gov. C. C. Young would not be present in Torrance tomorrow night to address a luncheon which will address the Kwanan club, and all who care to attend, on the governor's candidacy for re-election.

Former Watchman at Refinery Dies

Word was received this morning by Mrs. Edward Lynch of the death of Mike Maloney, former night watchman under the late Edward Lynch at the Petroleum Securities refinery on Vermont avenue in Keystone.

The deceased passed away Aug. 16 at the Los Angeles County Fair. Funeral services were held in Los Angeles under the auspices of the Catholic Welfare Society. Mr. Maloney formerly lived in Torrance, and while he had no close relatives to survive him, he had a large number of friends in this district. A little over a year ago he was stricken blind and has been at the county hospital ever since.

"Angels" Lecture To Be Given Sunday

Henry Bates and Florida Leonie Scott, both of Los Angeles, were united in marriage at the home of Rev. George G. Elder, 1804 Martins avenue, Saturday evening, August 17th. The couple and friends were present at the ceremony.

FOX PLAZA HAS ARRAY OF TALKIES

Greater Movie Season is here! Never in the history of the Fox Plaza theatre at Hawthorne has such a brilliant array of pictures been offered to the public as those to be seen at this theatre this week and the weeks to come.

With that bold, bad, boisterous Bill Haines appearing in "Way Out West" at the Fox Plaza tonight and Friday, you are sure of a real treat. Polly Moran, Leila Hyams and Cliff Moran, Leila Vera Marsh, Charles Middleton, Jack Pennick, Buddy Roosevelt and Jay Wilsey.

The picture is admirably named, part of it having been filmed on the famous Fort Tejon cattle ranch and the remainder in the Hopi Indian pueblo country near Gallup, New Mexico. Considerable negotiating was necessary before the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer company was able to secure permission to film on the Indian reservation, but what proved an even greater difficulty was to induce a number of the Indians to make themselves understood in the Hopi language.

The picture is a howling farce which presents Haines as a carnival barker whose attempts at cheating a group of cowboys land him a crooked roulette wheel hand him a Western ranch on the back of a bucking broncho. He becomes involved in a series of exciting escapades but before the picture is over has proved that he can stand the gaff of the country where "men are men."

The picture is remarkable in being the first to have been filmed by a sound studio on wheels, a special train having been equipped with a laboratory car, camera car, and sound recording car, exclusive of the passenger section which served as a hotel for members of the company. Another novelty is the fact that many of the scenes were filmed atop the ancient Indian pueblos, the players having to climb three-hundred foot ladders in order to reach the "location" grounds.

Frank McGinley Represents All of His District

Wilmington Candidate for Assembly Is Well Known Here

"Firm in the belief that it is the chief duty of a legislator to be on guard and resist freak legislation," said Frank McGinley, Wilmington candidate for the assembly from the 72nd district, said, "incidentally, Frank McGinley has been ever mindful of the supporters of the incumbent member of the legislature."

McGinley, who has the endorsement of more than a dozen organizations of importance in his district is standing on a platform of representation for all.

"Without appeal to any one portion of the district to infer that any one section of the district will be given an advantage over any other part of the district but with the sole aim to represent the length and breadth of the entire district in the trust of American fairness," is the way in which the Frank McGinley campaign committee for State Assembly in the 72nd district expresses the way he stands.

The candidate is well known in his district. For the past five years he has been a member of the Building and Safety Commission of Los Angeles.

Aside from running a successful electrical business, Frank McGinley has given more than half his time to civic and fraternal endeavor. His present activities are: Vice-President of Wilmington Chamber of Commerce, Advisory Board member of Wilmington Eastern Exchange of California, Builders Exchange of Los Angeles, Builders Exchange of San Pedro and Wilmington, Federated Voters of the Los Angeles Amusement Organizations, Building Material Dealers Credit Association, and Citizens Committee of Ten Thousand.

Iowan Maintains Fleet of Packards

C. H. Young, Clinton, Iowa, is said to have one of the most interesting fleets of privately owned automobiles in the country. In his garage there is a 1907 Packard touring car that has a record of 165,000 miles. Beside it stands a 1915 Packard with a reading of 79,000 on its speedometer. There is in addition a 1917 Packard Twin Six limousine with 68,900 miles and a 1925 Packard Six limousine with 48,000 miles to its credit.

At the head of the line of cars stands a Packard Standard Eight sedan limousine which Mr. Young purchased this year. All of Mr. Young's fleet of Packards are maintained in good running condition. The 1907 car recently made a trip from Clinton to Rock Island easily at a mile a minute clip.

Torrance Theatre Has Bill Haines In "Way Out West" for 3 Days

William Haines' latest talking comedy, "Way Out West," will open Tuesday, August 26, and run for three days at the Torrance theatre with a cast which includes Leila Hyams, Polly Moran, Cliff Edwards, Frances X. Bushman, Jr., Vera Marsh, Charles Middleton, Jack Pennick, Buddy Roosevelt and Jay Wilsey.

The picture is admirably named, part of it having been filmed on the famous Fort Tejon cattle ranch and the remainder in the Hopi Indian pueblo country near Gallup, New Mexico. Considerable negotiating was necessary before the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer company was able to secure permission to film on the Indian reservation, but what proved an even greater difficulty was to induce a number of the Indians to make themselves understood in the Hopi language.

He becomes involved in a series of exciting escapades but before the picture is over has proved that he can stand the gaff of the country where "men are men."

CYRIL MAUDE "GRUMPY" AT FOX REDONDO

His enthusiasm for talking motion pictures has brought Cyril Maude, a stage star for almost half a century, out of retirement, and settled down to live quietly in London. But only three months ago he was in Hollywood acting again in the role that he played 1300 times in three continents—the famous stage character, Grumpy. The picture, "Grumpy," comes to the Fox Redondo theatre on Wednesday, August 27, for two sets.

"When interviewed in Hollywood about his thespian re-birth, Maude declared that he was a convert to the talking screen.

"Talking pictures," he asserted, "have such amazing possibilities that I wanted to have a part in them. The stage, or the silent screen never could have induced me to give up the retirement I had planned so long and was enjoying so thoroughly."

Maude made his stage debut in 1881 in Denver, Colo., while he was visiting in America, to recover from a youthful illness. During his long career he has appeared in command performances before the late King Edward VII and the present King George V. of England.

Pepper Tree Claimed "Perfect Nuisance"

Because a pepper tree in "a perfect nuisance" to Mrs. William J. Condey's front porch at 1523 Marcellina avenue, she requested permission of the council in a letter read Tuesday night to remove it and a cedar tree. Mrs. Condey offered to replace the two trees with two other varieties.

The matter was referred to the Parks and Streets Committee, composed of Councilmen Bell, Steiner and Maxwell, for investigation. It was thought that if some of the trees are to be removed in preference to other varieties, that all of the trees which overhang the sidewalk and yards on the street should also be removed.
